

A Scripture Comedy

A Scripture teacher was teaching about the birth of Messiah Yeshua and asked the class to write what they new about having a baby. The following are some of the answers she received

To have a baby the mother has to lay an egg, then the male cracks it. (Absun: age 9).

When you're pregnant you get sicker, fatter and nastier every day. (Marieanne: age 9).

If you want a baby go to the library. (Pierre: age 8).

A baby comes out of the mummy's tummy and bites the doctor and the doctor smacks it. (Edward: age 6)

To have a baby you have to make love to someone who doesn't mind. (Shelley: age 7).

The man next door has a baby in his tummy but it never comes out. (Alister: age 9).

I nearly know how to have a baby but we don't do it till next term. (Francis: age 7).

It's easier to have a baby if you are a cat. (Paulette: age 10).

If you don't want a baby you should practice contradiction. (Lynn: age 9).

Joseph's wife Mary had an immaculate contraption. (John: age 9).

First of all you get in love – get married and get a baby. Or you can do it the other way round. (Peter: age 9).
